VERBENA

Design: Brad Ascalon • Handwoven rug with pile technique, in nautal masi yarn on linen warp

KATEHA^o

VERBENA was one of a series of sketches exploring the dominant/sub-dominant/subordinate relationship of scale between objects on a page. The final design is the result of that exploration - a triplet of organic rings overlapping like a Venn diagram, but with the simplicity of a hand sketch or an understated, modest flower like the verbena. Handwoven in wool with the organic woven pile rings bringing a soft appearance to the Verbena rug. Natural masi-yarn woven on a linen warp. Verbena is available in three monochrome masi colours.
